About Patrick

I have been in the plumbing industry since 1985. Since 2000 I have been in the Manufacturing Environment serving the Plumbing Industry. I am a regular article contributor to Plumbing Africa and also currently serving as Vice Chairman for the Gauteng Region of the Institute of Plumbing South Africa.

About Calafrica

Over the past 25 years, Calafrica (Pty) Ltd has been providing effective and comprehensive water and fluid control products to the plumbing and construction industry in South Africa. Established in 1995 by Avron Fullerton, Calafrica continues to ensure safe and sustainable solutions to almost any situation where the control of water pressure and flow is necessary, ensuring a high level of system performance and efficiency that meets specific SANS and SABS requirements.

Our expertise include specialised consulting and advice regarding hot and cold water reticulation system plan layouts, as well as any technical advice for new installations or problem solving within existing systems. All of our products carry a comprehensive warranty backed by efficient service.
